Talent and Culture

Supporting talent and promoting culture is the strategic centre of the activity carried out by Banco Sabadell Foundation. Our commitment to these areas has consolidated and continued to grow since 2018. Our commitment has been sealed through our support and collaboration with different entities who promote projects of this nature. A wide range of people benefit from these projects, which are an excellent opportunity to develop their talent in many different ways: gaining recognition in national or international circuits, being trained by experts, becoming inspired and motivated through conferences or joining the world of work, amongst others.

From this perspective, the projects and collaborations which we have supported during 2018 have been characterised by their excellence, efficiency, determination and our close relationship with the entities and the beneficiaries.

For this reason, we do not believe in culture without talent or talent without culture. Knowledge and talent are the foundations of progress in society. They are both pools of knowledge which feed each other and drive social progression. This is clear through our commitment to talented people under 40, through granting scholarships and awards.

From this perspective, the projects and collaborations which we have supported during 2018 have been characterised by their excellence, efficiency, determination and our close relationship with the entities and the beneficiaries. Discovery and continuity have been the vectors upon which we have built our actions during 2018. Discovery with regard to our support for differential projects that seek to contribute to social progress, which are aligned with our commitment to transformation and our ability to adapt to change and to the future. Continuity with regard to our collaboration with entities who are developing sound, long-term projects, and who have a strong and consolidated relationship with the Foundation.

This Report is a useful tool that serves to know the projects promoted by the Foundation

We believe that this combination is a successful formula to guaranteeing that we will overcome future challenges, whilst we enjoy the successes we have achieved to date.

Definitively, this report aims to be a useful source of information so that the reader can gain an insight into the projects led by Banco Sabadell Foundation, the entities with which it collaborates and the persons who benefit from these collaborations.

#Demos2018, second event for foundations and civil society groups

The Spanish Association of Foundations (SAF) has organised this second event, which brought together more than 800 persons looking for solutions which make our world better. Furthermore, more than 80 experts from sectors such as technology, education, science, sports or philanthropy participated, to share their knowledge of how to overcome current challenges and “activate” the general public.

More than 40 activities to participate in: talks, meditation, work groups, basket ball, immersive experiences, debates, theatre and music. Meeting point to inspire, share and promote new focuses and projects which respond to society’s current needs.

‘Yo puedo cambiar el mundo’, the round table discussion moderated by the Foundation showed the best of our society through the talent, commitment and leadership of three young innovators: Xavier Verdaguer from Imagine, Damià Tormo from Fondo Columbus VP, and Álex Gomar, from HEMAV.

#ForoExpertos, inspiring talks

Factoría Cultural Madrid and Murcia are hosting Foro Expertos sessions, a series of talks and success stories with well-known professionals from different sectors, with the objective of sharing their experience and offering inspirational talks to young people.

Contribute to the training and talent of young people.
Free sessions at Matadero Madrid and Centro Párraga in Murcia

Art at IVAM

The Instituto Valenciano de Arte Moderno (IVAM) has hosted different exhibitions with the collaboration of Banco Sabadell Foundation with the objective of bringing culture closer to all audiences through photography, sculpture and art.

‘Habitar el Mediterráneo’, ‘Ángeles Marco. Vértigo’, ‘La eclosión de la abstracción’, ‘A contratiempo. Medio siglo de artistas valencianas’, ‘Annette Messager. Púdico-Público’.

Award for the creative talent of young designers

The Foundation has implemented, together with ANFACO-CEOPESCA the first edition of the Design Award, with the aim of recognising and strengthening creative talent of young designers, and giving them the opportunity to showcase their work.

The best creations of the commemorative plaque to celebrate 115 years of ANFACO under the slogan 'CATA LA LATA' have been selected by the panel of judges of this first award.

An award aimed at young designers aged under 35, who have studied design at any Spanish design school.

Bringing two key sectors closer: culture and education

‘A Tempo – Artes y Formación’ is a project which has the objective of generating and promoting spaces for interaction between students, teacher, and art and culture professionals.

Artistas en el aula, Temporada Alta en el aula, Crea tu proyecto and Formación para profesionales.

Artists, creatives and art and culture professionals look for ways of bringing teaching closer to school centres.

Catalyst of new talent

Celera is a programme which has been created to identify young talented persons in Spain and offer them the tools they need to make the most out of their potential.

They receive training specifically designed for them, they organise talks, workshops, courses and activities which are oriented towards the development of their skills.

Profiles of young people who stand out in the area of research, entrepreneurship and engineering.

Cinema of the future

The Foundation has implemented, together with Tabakalera de San Sebastián, an open experimentation group on cinema and technology, with the objective of reflecting on the critical way of using applied technology to images and sound in movement, proposing creative uses.

Generate knowledge, articulate projects and create communities.

Disruptive ideas, dreams that come true

In total, Banco Sabadell Foundation has offered scholarships to 8 young people which have participated in different innovation programmes as part of Imagine, an entity which looks for disruptive ideas, to turn them into real projects.

Four scholarships for Imagine Express 2018, two of who are winners of the hackathon organised by Imagine and two winners of the AERTEC Solutions Challenge.

Four scholarships for Imagine Silicon Valley 2018 for young people from institutions supported by the Foundation, such as EDEM Escuelas Empresarios, University of Alicante, University of Oviedo and Women CEO.

“By spending a month at the heart of innovation and entrepreneurship, carrying out this project together with incredible professionals and learning the work methodology used there, is the dream of everybody who loves learning, progress and research”

Álvaro Belmonte, Silicon Valley 2018 dreamer, from the University of Alicante.

Drone technology with a social impact

The HEMAV Foundation is implementing, with the collaboration of the Foundation, a scholarship programme aimed at students with the objective of ensuring that young people have the resources that they need to get them ready to be future professionals of drone technology.

Projects such as “Frida”, by Proactiva Open Arms, with a social impact, for the purpose of developing a search drone to detect people who are drifting in the Mediterranean sea.

‘Locust’ is another project in which, thanks to drones, it is possible to fly over remote areas, looking for locusts in their early stages to facilitate the identification and control of plagues, and to fight against hunger in areas such as Mauritania

II Banco Sabadell Foundation Award for Science and Engineering

Banco Sabadell Foundation granted the II Award for Science and Engineering, in collaboration with BIST (Barcelona Institute of Science and Technology) to strengthen recognition of young researchers who are residents in Spain in disciplines such as maths, chemistry, physics and engineering.

Award for the trajectory to strengthen, discover and accompany talent. Prof. Rubén Martín received the award for his innovative and creative vision of chemical catalysis, as well as for his responses to the needs and requirements of society in a context of sustainable development.

“Recognition such as this is personally satisfying for the research effort my team has carried out and recognition of science in general”

Rubén Martín, winner of the II Banco Sabadell Science and Engineering Award.

Innovative culture

'Pública18 10x10 Innovación en Cultura' is a support platform for the most innovative cultural managers. Through an open call, 20 projects are selected based on their value, innovation, professionalism and feasibility.

The ten finalists presented their initiatives in public ahead of an auditorium of professionals in the cultural sector.
Strengthen and support innovative projects and recognise the talent of young cultural managers.

More than photography

Foto Colectania Foundation has offered a programme of exhibitions and activities which delve deeper into the world of photography.

‘Estructuras de Identidad. The Walther Collection’, ‘Saul Leiter: In Search of Beauty’ and ‘Archivo Paco Gómez. El instante poético y la imagen arquitectónica’

Activities held parallel to the exhibitions: ‘DONE 3’, online and presential programme for the creation and investigation of new formats;

“Correspondences”, online reflection programme; masterclass in conjunction with photography professionals.

Photography, illustration and poetry markets

UtopiaMarkets brings together talent and creativity during three weekends in Barcelona to bring photography, illustration and poetry closer to the general public. Through the markets which also organise different activities to delve deeper into each one of these sectors.

Utopía126 has hosted 3 markets in 2018.

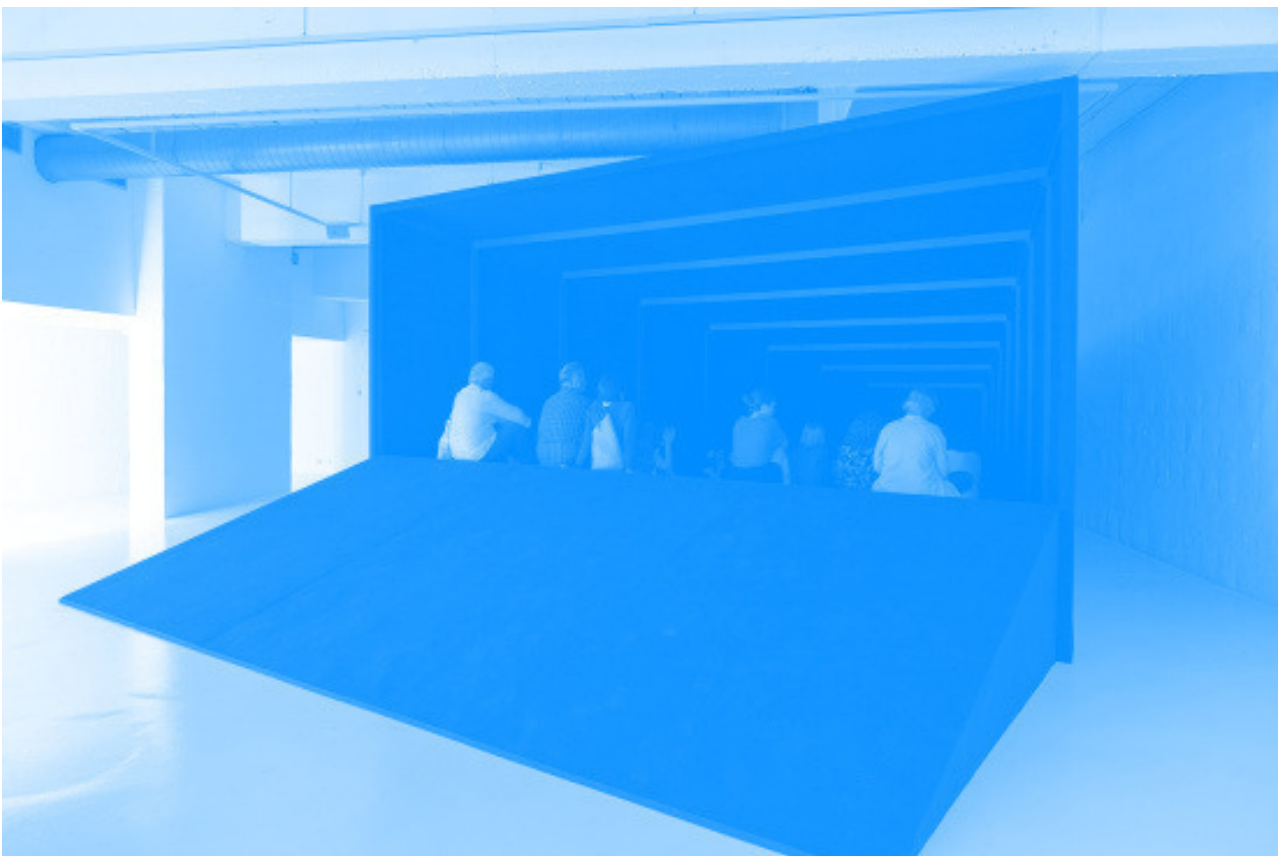

In total, more than 10,700 people have visited the markets, with 180 participants and 70 activities.

Platform for emerging art

The Joan Miró Foundation is hosting Espai 13, where different emerging artists exhibit their works, all under the same theme.

Support, encouragement and recognition of creative young people. The cycle 'A monster who tells the truth' questions and forces the limits between disciplines to reflect on the dynamics of power which affects knowledge.

Rethinking classical music

21 students from the Reina Sofía Music School have participated in the second edition of the programme “Innovation and Entrepreneurship” which we are hosting together with the Albéniz Foundation, with the objective of bringing classical music closer to all audiences.

To provide music students with the entrepreneurship skills and tools necessary to develop their career and their own musical projects. Divided into groups, five innovative projects have been created. ‘Just Music’, street concert for the Día de la Música; ‘Music-in’, musical education programme in schools with virtual reality; ‘Sens’, multisensory experience to discover classical music; ‘SonArte’, musical workshops for autistic children; ‘Feeling the bits’, concert at the Espacio Fundación Telefónica aimed at a young audience.

Secret artistic traditions since the 50's

The Centro de Cultura Contemporánea de Barcelona (CCCB) has hosted -'La luz negra' (black light) an exhibition which takes a look at the influence of different secret traditions on contemporary art from the 50's up until now.

350 works by artists from various backgrounds, such as paintings, drawings, audiovisual, sculptures, photography, installations, books, music...
An unbiased approach and closeness to art and esoteric traditions.

Talent headed for Washington

Three students from the University of Oviedo will join different departments of the Inter-American Development Bank (IDB) which is headquartered in Washington, thanks to the scholarships granted by Banco Sabadell Foundation.

Recognise and accompany talent.

“The internships at the Inter-American Development Bank are an opportunity and a stimulus to grow professionally, to get to know new cultures and new ways of working. It allows us to go back to Spain with a good job”

Verónica García Sampedro, received the scholarship in 2018, selected for the Accounting Division of IDB.

The best of photojournalism

World Press Photo, the most prestigious photojournalism exhibition in the world has arrived in Barcelona, Madrid and Valencia, thanks to the support of Banco Sabadell Foundation.

137 photographs take us on a journey through the eyes of photojournalists around the world. The winning photograph of this 61st edition is by Venezuelan Ronaldo Schemidt, author of 'Venezuela crisis' a photograph of a young person running, engulfed in flames from a molotov cocktail, in a disturbance in Caracas.

'See to understand' was the slogan of this edition.

We are driving social innovation

40 social entities in Spain have participated in the second edition of B-Value, the programme which we implemented together with Ship2B Foundation, with the objective of helping entities to follow new professionalisation and sustainability models.

During 10 months, the entities have received training and mentoring from different professionals who have helped them to rethink their projects and professionalise their value proposal.
Create strategic alliances between social entities and companies, generate a bigger social impact.

“Giving us, and third sector entities, the opportunity to work with the best tools, and professionals to increase our impact and develop our project, it’s something which is unique and very innovative”

Ignacio García Castelló, co-founder, communication and marketing at Música en Vena, finalist of B-Value 2018.

XIII Banco Sabadell Award for Biomedical Research

Banco Sabadell Foundation awarded the XIII Award for Biomedical Research, one of the most important awards granted in Spain in the sector of biomedicine.

Award for the trajectory of a scientist aged under 42, who has developed their career in Spain, and who has promising future prospects ahead.
Dr Lopez Serrano won the award for his innovative contribution in the field of bacterial resistance to antibiotics, a topic which is immensely relevant in terms of biomedicine and sanitation on a global scale.

“Receiving this award is a special recognition of the lab, it is like a lighthouse on a dark road, it means that what we are doing is working, and that we are on the right track”

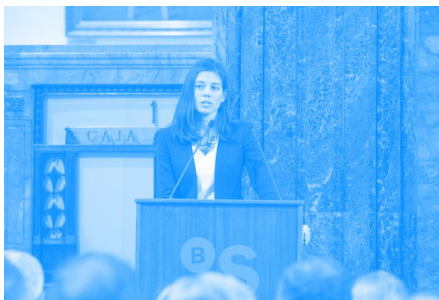

Daniel López Serrano, winner of the XIII Banco Sabadell Foundation Award for Biomedical Research.

XVII Banco Sabadell Award for Economic Research

Banco Sabadell Foundation grants the XVII Banco Sabadell Award for Economic Research

Rewards and recognises the work carried out by researchers in the fields of economic, business, legal and social knowledge.

Dr Laura Díaz Anadón has been granted this award for her work on climate change, which combines basic research with the development of public policies to guide the work carried out by governments and international organisations.

“Receiving this award is a great honour, it is going to help me in the future, but I also think that by strengthening and recognising the work involved in research is sending a very important sign to society, which can incentivise other young people to develop a career in research”

Laura Díaz Anadón, winner of the XVII Banco Sabadell Foundation award for Economic Research.

Young musical talent on stage

The fifth edition of the Fringe Festival, Torroella de Montgrí has hosted 18 free concerts by more than 60 young musicians selected from some of the best music schools and conservatories in Spain, throughout Europe.

Platform to encourage young talent and bring music closer to all audiences. Young people from institutions such as the Escuela Superior de Música de Catalunya (ESMUC), Reina Sofía School of Music, Taller de Músics, Conservatorio Superior del Liceo, Paris National Conservatory for Music and Dance, Guildhall School of Music and Drama in London and Hochschule für Musik Freiburg in Germany.

Young people and old timers at the Schubertiada de Vilabertran

The Schubertiada de Vilabertran has consolidated itself as an event which offers young talented persons opportunities to showcase their talent, whilst also including established musicians.

In this edition a total of 22 concerts have been scheduled, with artists from all over the world.

The festival has become a platform for young promising artists and established artists, to bring Schubert's music closer to all audiences.
